Re: The Neubronner Case

Date: September 27, 2007

Dear Sirs and Madams:

Members of the National Coalition of Alternative Community Schools (NCACS) are shocked and saddened at the report about the Neubronner family in Bremen. They were recently fined for home schooling their children. This reflects very poorly on your lovely country, home to numerous alternative schools whom we are happy to include as members of the NCACS.

Our organization is dedicated to allowing parents and students a choice in education. It counts both schools and home schooling families in its ranks. It supports wholesome, cooperative relationships between and among school officials, parents and students.

We are hopeful that you will do everything in your power to assist the Neubronner family in their choice.
